North Indian

Indian cuisine encompasses a wide variety of regional cuisine native to India. Given the range of diversity in soil type, climate and occupations, these cuisines vary significantly from each other and use locally available chocolates, herbs, vegetables and fruits. The dishes are then served according to

Chinese

A number of different styles contribute to Chinese cuisine but perhaps the best known and most influential are Cantonese cuisine, Shandong cuisine, Jiangsu cuisine (specifically Huaiyang cuisine) and Sichuan cuisine.

South Indian

The cuisines of Andhra Pradesh are the spiciest in all of India. Generous use of chili and tamarind make the dishes tangy and hot. The majority of dishes are vegetable or lentil-based.

Snacks

A snack is a small portion of food eaten between meals. This may be a snack food, such as potato chips or baby carrots, but can also simply be a small amount of any food.

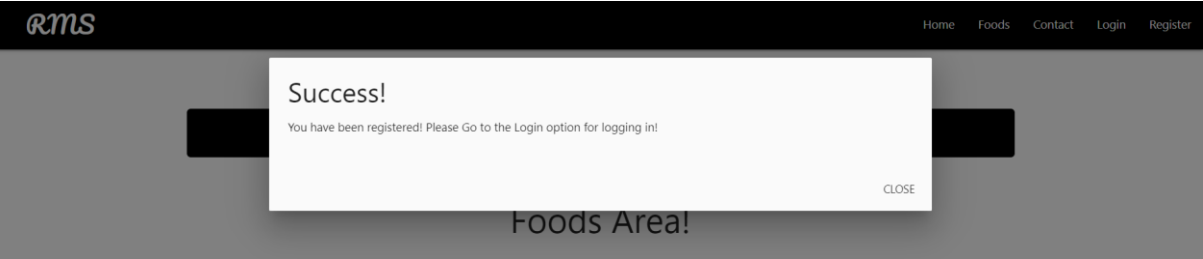

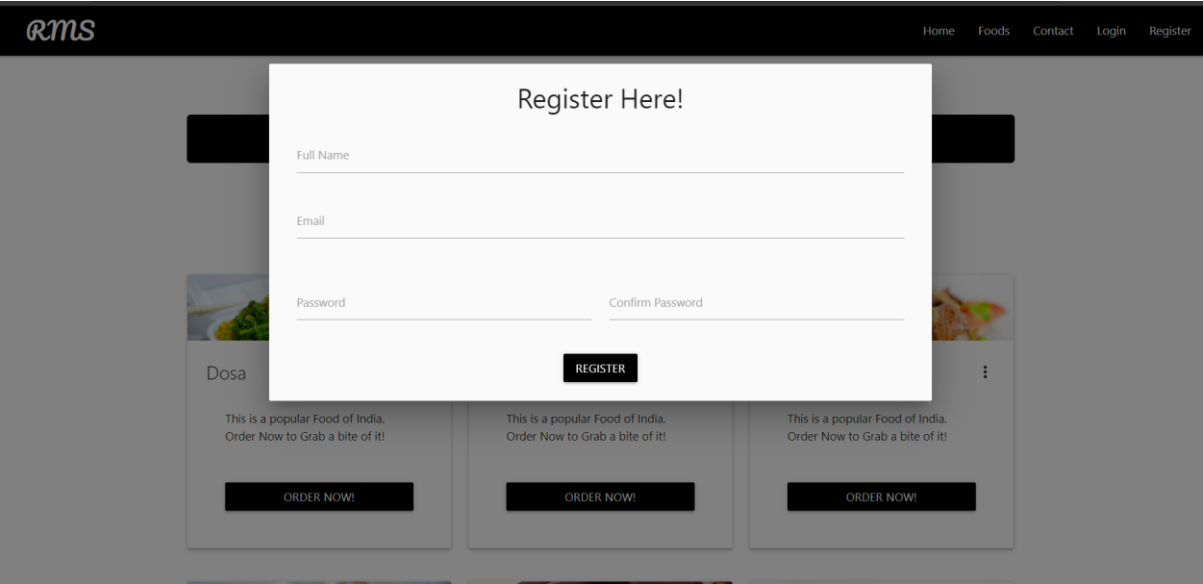

Himalayan Food

Much of the cuisine is variation on Asian themes. Other foods have hybrid Tibetan, Indian and Thai origins. They were originally filled with buffalo meat but now also with goat or chicken, as well as vegetarian preparations. Special foods such as sel roti, finni roti and patre are eaten during festivals such as

Admin front-end:

- Admin login page:

- Admin dashboard:

The image shows an admin dashboard with a dark theme. On the left is a sidebar with the text "R M S" and a list of menu items: "Foods", "Category", and "Orders". The main content area has a light gray background and features a white box titled "ADMIN". Inside this box are three rounded rectangular buttons labeled "Foods", "Categories", and "Orders". At the top right of the dashboard, there are links for "Home", "Main Site!", and "Logout!".
